

Asian Women In Business

Twenty-Something CEO's

THURSDAY, April 19, 2012, 6:00pm-8:30pm

The Metropolitan Museum of Art
The Ruth and Harold D. Uris Center for Education
At Fifth Avenue and 81st Street

Come hear from twenty-something CEO's on their exciting entrepreneurial journeys.

We will explore what motivated these enterprising young Asian women to risk it all to be founders and CEO's, while proving that hard work combined with a fearless attitude can be a recipe for success.

These women show us that youth is an asset, not a liability. We all have something we can learn from these young entrepreneurs about decision-making, risk taking and how to take that important leap.
